Benito Pablo Juárez García, 21 March 1806 – 18 July 1872) was a Mexican lawyer and politician of Zapotec origin from Oaxaca who served as the president of Mexico for five terms: 1858–1861 as interim, then 1861–1865, 1865–1867, 1867–1871 and 1871–1872 as constitutional president. He resisted the French occupation of Mexico, overthrew the Second Mexican Empire, restored the Republic, and used liberal measures to modernize the country.

It is claimed that Benito Pablo Juárez García was probably initiated in a lodge operating under the jurisdiction of The National Mexican Rite, in either the cities of Mexico or Oaxaca. It is suggested, that on January 15, 1847, such an initiation actually took place in a Lodge called: 'Independence Number 2'. Those of the opinion that his initiation occurred in Oaxaca, somewhere around 1833 or 1834, postulate that it was in a Lodge of the York Rite known as: 'Mirror of Virtues' one of the many instituted by the Grand National Lodge of Mexico in 1824.

The square and compasses can easily be seen in the giant mosaic to Benito Juárez in the city of Oaxaca.

Brethren are requested to keep the secretary informed of any changes that may arise, such as change of address or sickness.
